Terror faction claims Madrid bombs

From GRAHAM BROUGH
in Madrid

AN al-Qaeda gang last night claimed responsibility for the bomb attack which killed 192 in Madrid.

The atrocity left 1,420 injured and bore all the hallmarks of the terror network.

Ten co-ordinated explosions caused carnage on rush-hour commuter trains. One was said to be a suicide bomber.

The Brigade of Abu Hafis al-Masri dubbed the attack Operation Death Trains.

It added: "This is part of settling old accounts with Spain, the crusader, and America's ally in its war against Islam."

Tony Blair said it was an "unspeakable evil".
